Good News November 2018

Prayer for November

O God, lead us from death to life,
from falsehood to truth.

Lead us from despair to hope,
from fear to trust.

Lead us from hate to love,

Let peace fill our hearts, our world, our universe.

Amen.

Letter from the Vicar

'They shall not grow old, as we that are left grow old; age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn.' So go the first part of Binyon's lines that once again will be read out up and down the land, from the Cenotaph to country churches, including our own, this Remembrance Sunday. At the close of fours of impressive publicity, materials and events, we are more aware than ever of those sacrifices of 100 years ago: that generation of doomed youth, not forgotten. It is always good to avoid historical amnesia as we face today's troubles. It can also be depressing, remembering that 1914-1919 claimed to be the Great War for Civilisation; tragically a failure given the Second World War, subsequent conflicts and the prevailing atmosphere today. Remembrance Sunday 2018 will, then, be a real time for stock-taking, a national (and international) coming together. I do hope many of you can attend either our 9.45am service and act of remembrance and/or our extra event at 3.00pm when you will be sitting among silhouettes of Tommies, courtesy of the Armed Forces Covenant Fund and church members. Perhaps sometimes these important national and military aspects can overshadow our more personal loss and grief. In that regard, then, we also have our annual memorial service on 4 November at 3.30pm: a chance to pray for our own loved-ones who have died, whether recently or some years ago; an opportunity to reflect on our ongoing earthly lives without them and a reaching-out to that hope of heaven which encompasses us all. For those wondering about the second part of Binyon's lines, it strikes me that they really unite all kinds of grief and loss, whether in the wars or in more domestic settings. Throughout our lives, on any day, we are marked by loss, not just on a set anniversary. Perhaps especially at the outset and at the close of a day we can be most conscious of this, when busy activity is still ahead or is behind. This does involve pain, but that is not the whole word. Remembering also includes thanksgiving for what we have received and – as hinted before – the promise of hope, of heaven, of new creation, of swords becoming ploughshares, of the former things of death, crying, mourning and pain having passed away because all will be made new. 'At the going down of the sun and in the morning, we will remember them.'
